

The Long and Short of it – Weekly Update

Week in review:

U.S. stock markets moved higher again last week with both the Dow Jones Industrial Average and the S&P 500 Index posting another set of record highs. Senate passage of a $1 trillion infrastructure bill Tuesday and Wednesday's CPI release showing high YoY gains but slowing MoM gains helped move stock prices higher. Markets all but ignored Thursday's record high PPI release and Friday's much lower-than-expected consumer sentiment reading with all three major indexes moving higher the last two days of the week. The U.S. dollar, stronger through Thursday, weakened substantially Friday following the much lower-than-expected Michigan University consumer sentiment release. U.S. 10-year Treasury rates performed similarly, falling 7bps Friday after being up 8bps through Thursday. For the week, the S&P 500 Index increased 0.7% to 4,468.00, the Nasdaq Composite Index decreased 0.1% to 14,822.90, the Dow Jones Industrial Average rose 0.9% to 35,515.38, the 10-year U.S. Treasury rate increased 1bps to 1.30% and the U.S. dollar (as measured by the ICE U.S. Dollar index - DXY) weakened 0.3% percent.

European stock markets moved higher again last week with the STOXX 600 closing at another record high. Strong earnings reports and better-than-expected UK Q2 GDP growth mostly overcame Delta-variant Covid concerns pushing stock prices higher. European markets also benefited from the U.S. Senate's passage of a $1 trillion infrastructure package and from U.S. markets shrugging off continued high CPI and PPI releases. Energy stocks fared the worst last week, suffering from embattled oil prices and coronavirus-related demand concerns. Travel and leisure stocks, conversely, performed well on hopes new coronavirus-related restrictions will be limited. At week's end, the FTSE 100 Index increased 1.3% to 7,218.71, the STOXX 600 Index rose 1.3% to 475.83, the British pound weakened 0.1% and the Euro strengthened 0.3%, both versus the U.S. dollar.

Risk Factors

An investment in a GraniteShares short and leveraged exchange traded product ("ETP") may not be suitable for all investors. They are intended for investors who wish to take a very short term view on the underlying asset and are not intended as buy and hold investments.

Performance and capital loss: Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. The value of an investment may go down as well as up and can result in losses, up to and including a total loss of the amount initially invested.

Generic risks: Investments in ETPs involve numerous risks including, among others, company risks, general market risks, credit risks, foreign exchange risks, interest rate risks, geopolitical risks and liquidity risks.

Specific product risks: The Index is constructed to track the performance of an increased (leveraged) and/or short exposure to the underlying asset. A fall (or rise where short and leveraged exposure) in value of the underlying asset can result in a greater reduction in the level of the Index. The Index is designed to do this on a daily basis only which should not be equated with seeking a leveraged position for periods longer than a day. The ETP's performance over periods longer than one day will not be correlated or symmetrical with the returns of the underlying asset. Potential investors should refer to the section entitled "Risk Factors" and "Economic Overview of the ETP Securities" in the Prospectus relating to the GraniteShares ETPs for further details of these and other risks associated with an investment in short and leveraged ETPs and consult their financial advisers as needed.

Counterparty risk: An investment in a GraniteShares short and leveraged ETP involves counterparty risk. GraniteShares Financial plc has entered into a Swap Agreement with a counterparty, Natixis, that is backed with collateral. Failure of the counterparty to make payments may result in an investment in an ETP suffering a loss.
